

2021 International Conference on Materials and Nanomaterials (MNs-21)

Dear Author,

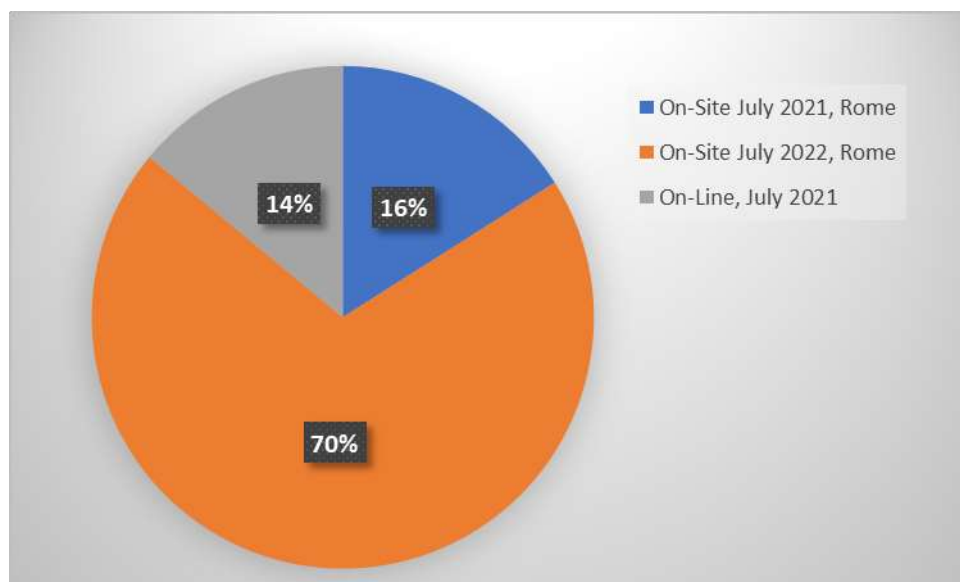

We hope everything goes well with you.

After careful consideration about the congress planned for this year 2021 and considering the following factors:

1) Italy in general, and Rome in particular, is currently in "total confinement of its population" due to a very high incidence of the virus (high risk).

2) The results of an online survey sent to all the people registered for the Conference have offered the following results.

Question: Due to the pandemic situation, this conference organisation considers holding congress in different modalities and dates. Please select your preference.

For these reasons, we have decided to postpone the Conference to 25-27 July 2022.

We hope you understand this decision as it considers everyone's health as a primary reason and respects most of your opinions.

Thanks for your understanding

See you in Rome,

M&Ns-21 Organizing Committee
Sciknowledge European Conferences